SUGAR SQUIBS.
Opening of the Grinding Campaign in Ascension and Elsewhere—Items of Interest from Field and Factory.

The past week has witnessed the lowest temperatures and the first frost of the present season, and coming as they do after nearly three weeks of unseasonable weather both not only for the creature comfort which follows in their wake, but for the vast amount of good they have done and will do to the cane crop. In the latter regard, the cool spell has proved of inestimable value to the sugar planters, since it has served to check the growth of the cane and caused the crop to mature, which was a consummation devoutly prayed for. Thanks to the change in temperature the weather is ideal for the opening of the grinding campaign, and the prospects for a good sugar yield at the outset of the season, which have heretofore been somewhat dismal, are now quite promising.

A stiff north wind which sprang up after dark last Saturday sent the mercury whizzing downward, and by the following morning a drop of many degrees had been recorded. Monday morning the thermometer registered 40 degrees and a light frost was visible, and practically the same conditions were noted on Tuesday. The weather since has been somewhat warmer, but it is still brisk and clear, and conforms in every way to the season of the year as suggested by the calendar and to the standard of delightfulness characteristic of Louisiana autumns.

The annual movement of negroes from the cotton farms of Louisiana and Mississippi to the sugar plantations of the Bayou Lafourche and Terrebonne parishes, and which has assumed its usual vast proportions, something like 1200 of these laborers having passed through this city within the past twelve days. They come mostly from Wilkinson county, Miss., and East and West Feliciana parishes, and have been transported to Donaldsonville via the Mississippi Valley Railroad and the steamer Virgie, the latter having found it necessary to make several extra trips daily from Burnside to Donaldsonville in order to handle the throngs of darkeys.

The McCall Bros. Evan Hall factory began grinding Thursday morning of last week, Oct. 19, being the first mill in Ascension parish to inaugurate the crushing season. Jos. Dicharry, who has served as chief sugar-boiler for many years, is again filling that responsible position, and J. C. Ward is in charge of the engine-room.

The Lemann Company's Palo Alto factory started its season's labors Monday morning, and at last reports was operating smoothly and obtaining fair results. Fred. Werner, Sr., who for many years officiated as chief sugar-boiler of the big Belle Alliance mill, is holding down the same position at Palo Alto this season, and is being assisted by his son, Eugene, and Nestor Landry. Alex. Poche is the efficient chief engineer, and J. W. Byrnes is putting in his second season as electrician.

Charles Landry and Chas. Vaillet are assisting Chief Sugar-Cook Jos. Dicharry in taking off the crop of the McCall Company's Evan Hall plantation, where grinding was started on 19th inst.

Graugard & Calre's Columbia factory in St. John parish opened the season's activities Tuesday morning under favorable auspices. Justilien Delatte, of Donaldsonville, who handled the proof-sticks last season with customary ability, will again have charge of the vacuum pans, and will be assisted by his sturdy sons, John and Prosper. Messrs. Camille Esmeault and Joe Montero, also of the Ascension capital, are serving as water-tenders.

Clement Rome, of Port Barrow, and Theophile Michel, of Darrou, are in charge of the sugar-making department of the Australia factory in Iberville parish.

Thos. Q. Chapman, of Port Barrow, is weighing cane at St. Emma, and Phillip Hebert, of the fourth ward, is engaged in a similar capacity at Palo Alto.

August Dugas, of Port Barrow, left Sunday morning for Rapides parish, where he will be engaged during the grinding campaign as sugar-boiler of the C. F. Knoll Company's well-equipped mill near Bunkie.

The Belle Helene factory in the sixth ward was scheduled to make start last Thursday morning. Camille Rome and his son, Leo, of Smoke Bend, who have presided over the vacuum pans for a number of years, will again be found at their respective posts, and in the fine mill will be the same as in former years.

Schuyler Brasset, of Smoke Bend, left recently to assume the position of sugar-maker at Well Bros. & Babin's open-kettle Clio factory in Rapides parish.

The Godchaux Company's Reserve refinery in St. John parish got away to a favorable start Wednesday morning, Oct. 18. Victor Melancon, Sr., of Darrou, who for many years past has filled with signal ability and unfailing success the important position of chief sugar-boiler of this mammoth establishment, will not manipulate the proof-sticks this year, owing to his advanced age, but he will continue to be represented in the big plant in the person of his son, Leo Melancon, also of Darrou, who will again serve as one of the assistant sugar-makers, a position which the younger Mr. Melancon has creditably filled for the past several years. Victor Suarez, of Donaldsonville, will succeed Mr. Melancon as chief sugar-cook, and Octave (Cackie) Melancon, of the Ascension metropolis, will be found in his customary place at the double-effects. The Wilbert Company's well-equipped Myrtle Grove factory in Iberville parish began grinding last Tuesday, and among the principals of its efficient mechanical corps are the veteran sugar-boiler, D. Ohlmeyer, of Donaldsonville, who has served in the capacity for the past nine years, and the capable chief engineer, Evan Skelly, who has been in charge of the engines for almost as long a period. Mr. Ohlmeyer will have as his assistants this year his son, Dille Ohlmeyer, and Luke Melancon.

Louis Rome, of Smoke Bend, is again bossing the sugar-making department of the Aloysis factory in Iberville parish, and is assisted by his son, Ulysses. The wheels of the Aloysis mill began to turn on the 23rd inst.

The fine Salsburg factory in upper St. James crushed its first stalk of cane last Monday, and will again be presided over by the same competent crew which has had charge of the grinding operations of the big mill for some years past. Jos. M. Bergeron is cock of the walk in the engine-room and Numa Thibaut is chief manipulator of the proof-sticks, the latter having as his assistants Camille Cere and John Babin, of this city. Albert Muller, of Galvez, is once more on the job as saw-miller.

Probably the last factory in Ascension to institute the grinding campaign will be the Reiss Company's Germania in the first ward, which is slated to begin operations about Nov. 1. Lydien Collet, of Whitecastle, will be chief sugar-boiler, and Joseph Oubre, of Donaldsonville, will serve as assistant.

Smith Ventzen left on the 14th inst. for the Albania factory in St. Mary parish, near Jeanerette, where he will again officiate as head clarifier. M. T. Blouin, formerly of this city, but who for some time past has been a resident of New Orleans, is putting in another season as chief sugar-boiler at Albania, and is being assisted by his many young son, Ton.

Fernand Rome, of Port Barrow, and Omar Michel, of Donaldsonville, are the capable sugar-makers of L. M. Soniat's Cedar Grove factory in Iberville parish, where grinding activities were instituted the past week.

Robert Murch, the well-known baseball player for a number of years has held down the position of sugar-boiler at the Belle Alliance factory in Assumption parish, is again on the job in that capacity. "Bob" passed through Donaldsonville last week en route to Belle Alliance, and was warmly greeted by his host of friends and acquaintances in this community.

Theo. Melancon, the well-known local blacksmith, is one of the double effect men employed for the current season at Cey's St. Louis factory in Iberville parish.

The San Francisco factory in St. John parish made a successful "get-away" last Monday, the 23rd inst., with Chester R. Israel as head sugar-beller and Florian J. Michel and Armand Babin as assistants. All of these competent sugar cooks hail from Donaldsonville, but Mr. Michel is the only one who makes his home here now. Mr. Israel being a resident of Bay St. Louis, Miss., and Mr. Babin being located at Deweyville, Texas.

The Oakley Planting Company's smooth-running Oakley factory at Avoca, Assumption parish, launched the grinding campaign Thursday morning. The "smooth-running" is used advisedly, since the Oakley company, is in charge of the engine-room, and accidents of any kind to the mechanical equipment of the plant have been so rare during his term of service as almost to escape notice. Leo Gaudin, of Darrou, who has starred as leading proof-stick prestidigitator for many years, will again reign as sucrier en chef, which is tantamount to saying that the Oakley outfit will grade "A1" in every respect and command the top of the market.

Henry E. Matherne, of Donaldsonville, will also be a member of the Oakley crew, serving as sugar-weigher.

R. A. Stephenson, who for some time past has been conducting the Eureka livery stable at the corner of Mississippi and St. Patrick streets, has discontinued that business and left recently for Terrebonne parish to accept a position as assistant field manager on John D. Shaffer's Arroyo plantation. Mr. Stephenson is a capable cultivator of the soil and a handier of labor, and his many friends are confident that he will make a good record in his new situation and give entire satisfaction to his employer. His accomplished wife and their sweet little daughter, Clara, are spending a while at Burnside as the guests of relatives, and from there will go to New Orleans, where they will reside until joined by Mr. Stephenson at the end of the grinding season.

Negro Murdered.

Albert Gasket, a negro moss-picker and trapper living in Churchville just inside the corporation limits, was shot and instantly killed at about 8:30 o'clock Monday night, and a negro named Willie King, alias "High Pocket," is suspected of having committed the crime. King was attentive to Gasket's paramour, and the men are said to have had some trouble about the woman in the past. Monday night Gasket left his home shortly after 8 o'clock to go to a nearby grocery to make purchases. A few minutes later the double report of a shotgun was heard by the people residing in the neighborhood, but no one made an investigation. The next morning Gasket's dead body was found on the sidewalk about 40 feet from his home, with eighteen buckshot wounds in the right breast. Although at the coroner's inquest practically everybody living in the vicinity who were summoned to appear testified to having distinctly heard the sound of two shots the night before, the dead man's paramour stated she had not heard the reports, and declared she knew nothing of the tragedy until the following morning. She was arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the crime, and the same day Willie King was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Lucien Acosta at Burton, where he was employed by the Burton-Swartz Cypress Company. King claims to have been at work on Monday and his statement is borne out by the timekeeper of the Burton sawmill, but Sheriff Hanson says he has testimony to the effect that the negro was seen in town that day. In any event, he could have attended to his work at Burton and come to town on the 7:38 p. m. T. and P. train. The tragedy occurred at about 8:30 p. m.

Gasket is said to have been a peaceable, law-abiding darker, and was generally liked.

Death of Little Louise Goette.

It is with a feeling of profound regret that The Chief chronicles this week the death of little Louise Goette, aged six years and three months, daughter of Henry Goette and Louise Schaff, who passed away at her parents' home in Iberville street at 12 o'clock noon last Tuesday after an illness of ten days with diphtheria. Death is sad at all times and under all circumstances, but when it comes to a little child just arriving at an age to understand and appreciate the blessings of life and happiness, and takes from a devoted family one of its chiefest joys and ornaments, it strikes at the heart with peculiar power to hurt and causes even the strongest of us to bow our head in grief and shed a silent tear. A measure of consolation to the grief-stricken parents in their sad affliction is the tender sympathy of a host of friends, whose hope it is that the bereaved ones will find assuagement of their sorrow in the divine utterance of the Creator, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

The remains of the little martyr were tenderly laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery on Tuesday afternoon, the funeral obsequies, in accordance with the regulations of the Board of Health, being of a private nature.

Another and younger child of Mr. and Mrs. Goette, Lillian, is also suffering from diphtheria, and their many little son, Master Henry, is just recuperating from an attack of the dreaded malady.
